

We provide quality child care

The only choices parents think they have for child care is a day care center or a baby sitter, but there is a third option that many parents are not aware of and that is the Middlesex County Family Day Care Network.

We are child care providers, not baby sitters (and we do not like to be referred to as a baby sitter or sitter). We feel we are teachers who educate your children and care givers who give love to your children and care about them.

Each child is important to us and his or her growth is a responsibility we take very seriously. We value the time that we spend with your children and, therefore, could not imagine baby-sitting them.

We are professionals in the field of child care. We do not sit them in front of a TV all day. Instead we stimulate them; we have planned activities for your children — both educational and creative. We go on field trips and have community helpers come to speak with the children.

The providers are constantly expanding their knowledge by attending monthly workshops and exchanging experiences and ideas with other providers.

We are no longer alone: We are a network of 104 providers and growing in Middlesex County.

We have an advisory board of six dedicated providers from Edison, New Brunswick, North Brunswick, and Woodbridge. The advisory board helps providers organize the workshops and work on network policies.

We, the providers, provide quality home child care for the communities in which we live and we love it!
